

New Cold Wave In Mid-West; Relief Work Is Hampered

(By The Associated Press)

More federal funds were on the way to the storm-stricken western states today but new snow and cold weather delayed relief operations in some areas.

Nebraska, one of the states which suffered staggering blows from the early January blizzards, was in the path of the new cold wave that extended over the central section of the country. The below zero temperatures followed heavy falls of snow which seriously disrupted relief operations.

However, there were no fresh falls of heavy snow over the snowbound western disaster area where millions of cattle and sheep are stranded and facing starvation.

Deaths Mounting

But in Nebraska, Gov. Val Peterson told President Truman in a telegram human suffering is "increasing, deaths continuing, losses to cattle are mounting and potential losses are staggering."

Mr. Truman allotted another $500,000 for relief to the snow-stricken western states yesterday. That brought to $800,000 federal aid for relief operations.

Maj. Gen. Philip B. Fleming, Federal Works administrator, said in Miami, Fla., an additional $250,000 in federal funds had been allocated to the states digging out of the blizzards. He said he told Mr. Truman $1,000,000 was needed for the rescue work.

The funds are being used to open highways and roads so food supplies and water can be delivered to stranded cattle, as well as to snow-bound ranchers. Fleming is to leave Monday for a tour of the stricken area.

Need $3 Million

Gov. Peterson said a congressional appropriation of between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000 was needed to relieve the desperate conditions in Nebraska, Wyoming and South Dakota. About 135 blizzards already have been assigned to the Nebraska blizzard area and more from the Fifth Army were on the way. But the new snow blockade halted the relief work.

Congress is mapping plans to boost by another $3,000,000 the current fund available for relief in 10 western states.

SET DATES FOR ADAMS COUNTY SS CONVENTION

The annual Adams county Sunday school convention will be held Sunday afternoon and evening, June 19, at the York Springs Lutheran church, it was announced at the regular monthly meeting of the Adams County Council of Christian Education at the YWCA building Friday evening.

Dr. Bertha Paulsen, of the Lutheran Theological seminary faculty, will be speaker at the afternoon session, and Dr. William Mather, State College, the evening speaker.

The theme for the convention will be "The Impact of the Christian Home on Community Life."

It was reported that the "Seeds for Peace" program is progressing satisfactorily in the county and all were urged to support the cause.

Plan Youth Council

The Rev. Dr. Norman S. Wolf, Fairfield, Young People's division superintendent, reported a good response to the call for representatives of the districts, Luther league and Christian Endeavor groups for an organization meeting of the Adams County Youth Council to be held Sunday afternoon, February 6, at the Gettysburg Methodist church.

Mrs. Cameron Garretson, Flora Dale, Children's Division superintendent, announced plans for a (Please Turn To Page 8)

THREE YOUTHS ARE JAILED FOR CAR ROBBERIES

Three Adams county youths who had pleaded guilty to a number of charges of stealing articles from parked cars were given jail sentences by the Adams county court this morning.

Paul Patterson, 20, Fairfield R. 1, was sentenced to from nine to 18 months starting from the date of his original commitment and ordered to pay the costs.

His two companions, Wilbur A. Emory, 23, and Vernon D. Emory, 20, both of Greenstone, were both sentenced to from six to 12 months and ordered to pay the costs of the prosecution. Their sentences also start from the day of the original commitment.

Joseph Reese, a 17-year-old juvenile, who also was implicated with Patterson and the Emorys, told the court he pleaded not guilty to the charges against him and he was returned to the county jail to await a jury trial.

Tonsel Sentenced

Patterson told the court that he would not have stolen anything if he had not been drinking. "In the morning when I woke up I felt sorry about it but I could not recall where I got the things so I could not take them back," Patterson said when questioned by the court.

Richard Tonsel, South Washington street, was sentenced to the Pennsylvania Industrial school at White Hill when he appeared for sentencing on two charges of burglary, a charge of assault and battery and a charge of resisting arrest. He had previously pleaded guilty to all charges.

The court told Tonsel that he would be released from White Hill when authorities there deem it advisable.

Melvin Leroy Emory, Pen Mar, was sentenced to from six to 12 months in the county jail and ordered to pay the costs. Emory was charged with having stolen several steel wheels from a grit mill at Greenstone and selling them for junk. Emory told the court that he stole the wheels because his family needed money. He said he had had no work since a wood-cutting job ended some time ago. The court set his sentence to begin from the date of his original commitment to jail on January 20.

Frank Breckenridge, Gettysburg, was sentenced to from 11 to 22 months in the county jail on a (Please Turn To Page 2)

COURT REJECTS DIVORCE CHARGE

The Adams county court this morning handed down an opinion in the action of divorce of Sylvia Topper Wible vs. John Allen Wible, both of Gettysburg. The court held that the act of violence of which she complained does not constitute cruel and barbarous treatment within the meaning of the divorce law.

The court noted, however, that the acts may be considered in connection with a charge of indignities to the person. "For this reason the libellant will be given an opportunity to amend her libel and offer further testimony if she so desires," the opinion noted.

Waste Paper Is Almost Worthless

Waste paper, once almost a priceless item, has become almost worthless according to local collectors.

One large dealer in the east said he had given away, without charge, 25 carloads of waste paper. Local dealers make a "donation" to youngsters who take paper to their yards.

HOSPITAL REPORT

Admissions to the Warner hospital include R. 2: Rita A. Topper, Emmitburg; Junior Woodring, Gettysburg R. 3; and Mrs. Clark Staley, 139 Hanover street. Those discharged were Mrs. James F. Riley, Gettysburg R. 2; Merle Baumgardner, Taneytown; Ronald Sanders, 215 West Middle street; John E. Powell, Biglerville R. 2; Mrs. George Andrew and infant son, George Stanley, Emmitsburg; Linda Sanders, Gettysburg R. 2; Mrs. Roy Tate and infant daughter, of Biglerville R. 2; Mrs. Wayne VanDyke and infant son, Bruce Rodney, Arendtsville; Mrs. William McClellan and infant daughter, Shirley Ann, Gettysburg R. 3; Mrs. Fred Tipton and infant son, Paul William, 150 Hanover street, and Mrs. Raymond Weishaar and infant son, Robert Allen, Gettysburg R. 5.

REBUFFED AGAIN

Washington, Jan. 28 (AP)—Russia has rebuffed a new United States attempt to learn how many thousands of German war prisoners are still in Soviet hands. Government officials disclosed the Russian foreign office also refused a U.S. request about when the last Germans will go home.

NAB TIPS DRIVER

State police of the Gettysburg substation arrested Jerome E. Nenis, Gettysburg R. 5, on a charge of driving an automobile while under the influence of intoxicating liquor. He was committed to jail for a hearing later before Justice of the Peace John H. Basehore.

Sell Restaurant At Arendtsville

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Kane, who for the past 14 years have operated a restaurant in Arendtsville, have sold their restaurant to Mr. and Mrs. Alton P. Wierman, of Arendtsville.

Mr. and Mrs. Wierman will take possession of the establishment on Tuesday. On Monday Mr. and Mrs. Kane will move to their new home in Arendtsville. Mr. Kane, who has been associated with the restaurant business for the past 21 years will continue his employment at the Adams County Fruit Packing and Distributing company.

Joan Wenschhof, a member of the sophomore class of the Littlestown high school, was the winner in a cherry pie baking contest, held in the home economics room of the school beginning at 1:15 o'clock on Friday afternoon. She received a blue ribbon as her award and will also be able to participate in the county contest to be held at Biglerville on February 5. Marie Flickinger, a member of the junior class was the runner up and received a red ribbon as her award.

This contest was in charge of Mrs. Virginia Sheely, home economics instructor of the local school. There were seven contestants. In addition to the winners, the following participated: June Huff, and Doris Kerns of the senior class and Betty Hess, Joanne Sites and Hazel Rimmel of the sophomore class.

Judges for the contest were Bernard Schott, Mrs. Wilbur A. Bankert and David Kammerer, Jr.

One Game Cancelled

There will only be two basketball games tonight in the high school gym instead of three as previously announced. The preliminary game between the Littlestown Juniors and the Hoffman Orphanage has been cancelled due to the inability of the Orphanage team to appear at that time. The first game will start at 7:30 p. m., when the Littlestown Girls' team will play a girls' team from Gettysburg. The feature game has been called for 8:30 p. m., when the Littlestown Independents will play Charlie Keller's Middletown quintet.

The members of the Littlestown Men's chorus are asked to be at St. Paul's Lutheran church on Sunday so as to be ready to leave promptly at 12:30 p. m. for their broadcast at Hanover from 1 to 1:30 p. m.

Sterling S. Sell, Homer R. Sell and A. Wolfe, near town, returned on Friday from a 10 days' trip to Florida.

Two one-act plays were presented Friday evening in the Littlestown high school auditorium by the underclassmen of the Junior-Senior high school. About 350 were present.

The first play was "Teen Magic" (Please Turn To Page 3)

ANNIVERSARY IS NEAR FOR LIONS

A silver-bound 25th anniversary edition of the Gettysburg Lions club's year book was distributed to members with the weekly club letter Friday by Secretary Ralph E. Barley.

The booklet is dedicated to Melvin Jones, founder and secretary general of Lions International, and to the charter members of the local club "for their foresight and courage in establishing Lionsism internationally and locally." Observance of the silver anniversary is planned later in the year by the local Lions.

The annual publication contains a roster of international, district and local Lions officers. Nineteen "monarch" members, those who have been in the club for 10 years or more, are listed and include six charter members. Twenty-four "key" members also appear in a listing that precedes the complete roster of the club which now numbers over 100.

Initiation of new members at a special ceremony is on the schedule for the weekly meeting of the Lions at the Shetter House Monday evening.

The current club letter also announces the appointment of George A. Albee as assistant tail twister to help Tail Twister S. F. "Pappy" Swope in the performance of his duties.

EGG AND PORK PRICES DECLINE AT MART TODAY

Eggs and pork were both cheaper on the Farmers market this morning. Top price for large, fancy white eggs, 24-ounce and up, was 60 cents a dozen. Other eggs sold from 45 cents a dozen for small browns to 55 cents a dozen for large browns and 55 to 58 cents a dozen for whites.

The price of sausage was down to 60 cents a pound today, from a previous 65 cents a pound. Smoked sausage brought 65 cents a pound. Shoulder roasts dropped from 65 cents a pound to 60 cents. Scapple was 20 cents a pound. It was formerly 25 cents a pound.

Lard, which several months ago was selling for 32 cents a pound, and dropped later to 28 cents a pound, was down to 25 cents today. Other pork prices held steady. Loins were 90 cents a pound; neck roast, 55 cents a pound; backbone, 50 cents a pound; ribs, 45 cents a pound; pudding, 50 cents a pound; liver, 50 cents a pound; side meat, 55 cents a pound; pigs feet, 15 and 20 cents.

Poultry Unchanged

Poultry prices remained unchanged with roasters selling for 65 cents a pound and fryers and capons at 70 cents a pound.

Potatoes were $2.50 per bushel and apples from $3.50 to $4 a bushel. Turnips sold for ten cents a quart box; onions, 15 cents a box; parsnips, 15 and 25 cents a box; beets, 15 cents a box; apple butter, 60 cents a jar; sweet cream, 35 cents a pint; cottage cheese, 20 cents a pint; potato salad, 20 cents a pint; pies, 40 and 45 cents each; cookies, 25 cents a dozen, and angel food cakes, $1.30 each.

Baked beans could be purchased on the market this morning for 30 cents a pint. One farmer had a supply of water cress, for 15 cents a quart box. There were hand-crocheted, heart-shaped "Valentine" pin cushions to be had for $1.50 each.

DR. PARKER TO PREACH SUNDAY

The Rev. Dr. G. Gordon Parker will be the guest preacher at St. James Lutheran church at the vesper service on Sunday evening at 7 o'clock.

During his student days at the Lutheran Theological seminary he was a student assistant at St. James. Following his ordination to the ministry he was commissioned a missionary by the Foreign Mission board of the United Lutheran Church of America. For a number of years he served as a missionary in Liberia, Africa. Dr. Parker is now the pastor of St. Matthew's Lutheran church, Collinsville, Connecticut.

At the service on Sunday evening, the Rev. Dr. Ralph R. Gresh, pastor, will be the liturgist. The Junior choir, under the direction of Prof. Richard B. Shade, will present the anthem, "The Beatitudes" by Lawrence Keating.

At the 10:30 service in the morning, the fourth Sunday after Epiphany will be observed. Dr. Gresh will occupy the pulpit and speak on the theme, "Not to Destroy But to Fulfill." The Senior High School choir will participate in the service and offer the anthem, "Come Unto Me," by Louis Adolphe Coerne. Organ numbers to be presented by Prof. Shade include: "We All Believe in One God" by J. S. Bach; and "O Man, Mourn for Thy Many Sins," by Bach.

Taylor Describes Court Trial Of Axis Sally; Transcription Of Broadcast Also Submitted

Attorney Leighton C. Taylor, of Bendersville, in Washington this week on business, attended several sessions of the trial of "Axis Sally," German-American broadcast propagandist during the war.

The Times asked Mr. Taylor to write an article on the trial. Today he submitted a brief description of the courtroom scene, "Midge," the name "Axis Sally" used in her broadcasts, and a copy of one of her recordings made from one of her Berlin broadcasts.

Mr. Taylor's article and the transcription follows:

"The trial is being held in one of the many rather small court rooms of the District Court of the United States for the District of Columbia. Hon. Edward M. Curran, of the District Court bench is presiding; John M. Kelly, Jr., of the Attorney General's office, is the Government's chief prosecutor, and James M. Laughlin, one of Washington's outstanding criminal lawyers, represents Axis Sally.

Gives New Oxford Church $20,000

St. Paul's Evangelical and Reformed church, New Oxford, has been presented with a gift of $20,000 by Randolph Wehler, a member of the church who now resides in Washington.

The Rev. A. C. Rohrbach, pastor of St. Paul's, said today that one sum is to be set up as a memorial to the late Mrs. Wehler, who before her marriage was the former Cora Roth, New Oxford.

Mr. Wehler, a retired pharmacist, was born near New Oxford and lived in that section during his boyhood days. He conducted a drug trade at Pennsburg from 1905 to 1910 when he moved to Washington. He was in business at Westminster from 1918 until his retirement in 1933 when he again resumed his residence in Washington.

200 FRUITMEN ATTEND MEET AT BIGLERVILLE

Two hundred fruit growers from Adams and nearby counties were gathered today for the annual session of the Fruit Growers' Association of Adams county at Biglerville.

The meeting got underway at 9:30 o'clock this morning with experts from State College discussing details of the rapidly approaching fruit season with the growers.

Each grower was given a handful of papers this morning containing the suggested spray schedules put out by the State College extension men and County Agent M. T. Hartman, and most of the morning session was devoted to a discussion of the programs which are designed to cover most of the problems that might affect the fruit grower.

Leaf spot on cherry trees seemed to be one big foe expected this year, judging by the spray schedule put out for sour cherry. Growers, seeking better spray materials, spent much time in discussion of 341B, better known as Crag, and 341C for use this year. The extension specialists argued for 341B as opposed to 341C on cherry until more is known about the C.

The 341B appears to be fully as effective as lime sulphur and the proprietary copper compounds in the control of cherry leaf spot, the extension specialists said, "and with much less danger of injury and no fruit dwarfing. The frequent severe injury and fruit dwarfing experienced with lime sulphur and copper in the past makes us believe that 341B should be used on a moderate scale as the most promising of the newer materials."

Fruit growers who once felt that four or five sprays a season were sufficient to control all insect and disease damage, found that the number of sprays recommended (Please Turn To Page 3)

News Collected At Random

It was interesting to read of the many worthwhile and commendable suggestions and reminders of the major needs confronting Gettysburg advanced by the Messrs Heiges, Scharf and Winebrenner at the Public Relations conference in the YWCA Thursday evening.

These public forums are timely and in good taste but the major drawback is that they are not attended and participated in by local residents in sufficient numbers. Town problems and issues are problems and issues affecting each and every individual.

A public comfort station, community center and enlargement of the sewage disposal plant are apparently at the head of the list of most residents. Two of those should be the sole responsibility of the town council. The community center project is one that should command the support of every citizen of Gettysburg. It could be broad enough in scope to embrace the entire county.

One essential requisite to the progressive growth and development of any community is that each individual seeking to serve his community through an elective office should assume full responsibility for those things that come within the province of his office.

Police Seek Cuban Farm Hand Following Attack On Mother Of 6 With Knife Friday Afternoon

Mrs. Mary Flynn, 34, mother of six children, was stabbed in the left hand at 2:45 o'clock Friday afternoon in a second floor bedroom of her home on the old Hunterstown road, two and a half miles east of Gettysburg, and a 13-state alarm was broadcast in the man-hunt for her assailant.

The woman, wife of David Flynn, a section worker for the Western Maryland railroad, suffered a fracture of her left leg when she jumped 12 feet from the bedroom window to the ground in escaping from her assailant.

State police of the Gettysburg substation identified the latter as Jack "Biddy" Baker, 47, a Cuban, who had been employed on the Flynn farm for the past three weeks.

After breaking her leg, Mrs. Flynn crawled a quarter of a mile through a field to the home of a sister, Rita Smith. She was brought to the Warner hospital in the automobile of C. Arthur Brame, Lincolnway East.

Threatens Death

Police said Baker had been working on the farm and returned to the house early in the afternoon, going upstairs to his room. He called to Mrs. Flynn, who was on the first floor, to come upstairs. She went up to see what he wanted.

Mrs. Flynn told state police that when she entered Baker's room, he pointed to a corner, and said "Look there." Then he grabbed her around the neck, raised his arm with a knife in his hand, and said "I'm going to kill you."

State police said Mrs. Flynn raised her left arm to ward off the knife, and received a cut between the middle fingers of her left hand. She broke away from Baker, ran to the window, raised it, and jumped out.

Baker Makes Escape

Baker left the house and has not been seen since.

Police said three of the Flynn children were at home and three others in school. Mr. Flynn was at work.

The children are: Regina, 14, Ruby, 11, Lawrence, 7, Douglas, 5, Thomas, 4, and Connie, one year.

The family were formerly residents of West Virginia.

Baker, authorities said, had been employed on various jobs in and around Gettysburg before going to work at the Flynn farm. He was described as five feet, five inches in height, weight, 145 pounds; several front teeth missing and a plate in his left foot which causes him to limp.

Arrested January 6

He was wearing a trucker's visor cap, navy peacoat, blue pullover sweater, and two pairs of brown and gray pants. He wore either a pair of brown shoes or knee-length rubber boots, according to the state police description.

Baker was arrested January 6 by state police, on a disorderly conduct charge. At that time he was employed by Robert Mackley, Lincolnway East. Mackley charged that Baker returned to Mackley's late at night after drinking, and threatened to break in the house when Mackley refused him admittance. He was committed to jail by Justice of the Peace Claude Straley, New Oxford, in default of a $10 fine and costs, but paid the fine and costs the following day and was released.

MYERS HEADS FAIRFIELD PTA

George Inskip, supervising principal, presided at the organization meeting of the Parent-Teacher's Association of the Fairfield Joint school system Friday evening in the Fairfield Community Fire company hall.

The meeting opened with group singing led by the school's music teacher, Mrs. Thomas. Mr. Inskip, in his opening remarks, stated that the present enrollment of the school is 380 pupils and from all indications next year's enrollment will exceed the 500 mark. All faculty members were present and were introduced to the assembled group. Two films on school work were shown by George Glenn.

The nominating committee composed of Rev. A. W. Geigley, Robert Reindollar and Joseph Love presented the following nominations: President, Roger Myers; vice president, Robert Reindollar; secretary, Mrs. M. Stearns; treasurer, Mrs. Harold Brown. The nominees were voted into office. Mrs. Howard Knouse was introduced and spoke on the value of the kindergarten in pre-school education.

Robert Reindollar, principal of the Consolidated school, announced that the school donation to the "March of Dimes" amounted to $11.26 with the contributions as follows: 1st grade, $2; 2nd grade, $1.90; 3rd grade, $3.30; 4th grade, $4.06.

An automobile operated by Robert Brewington, Hyattsville, Md., collided with a car driven by Clair Clossapple, Arendtsville, at 1:15 o'clock Friday afternoon in the second block of South Washington street, according to a borough police report. Total damage was estimated at $50.

JUDGE IN RED TRIAL RECEIVES THREAT LETTER

New York, Jan. 29 (AP)—The conspiracy trial of 11 high U. S. Communists has taken a new twist with the disclosure that nearly all the principals involved have received threatening letters.

The revelation was made calmly to a packed court room yesterday by Federal Judge Harold R. Medina, presiding jurist. Shortly afterwards he adjourned the trial until Monday.

Returning from a luncheon recess, the jurist informed the spectators that he had received threatening "communications" at his home.

"I don't think I am in any danger, but if I'm wrong, I'll face the risk calmly," he said, adding he did not think the letters were "inspired by the defendants or counsel."

In fact, he said, he had "no notion" of what brought them on.

After Medina made the disclosure, Harry Sacher, a defense attorney, announced that he too—along with the defendants, all members of the American Communist party's national committee, and other defense lawyers—had been threatened by mail.

He said there were threats of violence against "ourselves, our wives and children."

The 11 Communists are charged with conspiring to advocate the overthrow of the U. S. government.

Referring to the letters, Medina said it was "apparent" that the character of the accusations against him in the court room, "the extravagant charges which have been made repeatedly, emotionally and loudly, may cause some misguided people to get the wrong impression of the administration of justice."

POLICE CHECK BAD STICKERS

Harrisburg, Jan. 29 (AP)—The Pennsylvania state police are on the lookout for improperly inspected automobiles.

Maj. E. J. Henry, traffic officer, said state police have observed some operators place stickers on automobiles without taking them inside the garage.

The penalty for failure to make proper auto inspections is suspension of the station permit for six months for the first offense, a year for the second and permanently for the third.

T. Elmer Transeau, director of the Bureau of Highway Safety, which supervises inspection stations, said the number of station suspensions now is much smaller than before World War II.

"It is running about 100 a year now compared with 600 or 700 a year at the peak," Transeau said. "It is a very valuable privilege and most station operators are honest men who try to do an honest job."

The current inspection period ends Monday, January 31. The revenue department already has announced there will be no extension.

assumed this attitude nothing would be done and Gettysburg would soon fade into oblivion.

For ten or more years scores and scores of merchants and others have complained that "nothing is done" to commemorate the anniversary of the Battle of Gettysburg, July 1, 2 and 3, and followed, of course, by Independence Day. It is true that these dates "go by the board" year after year, and the complaints persist.

Why isn't something done? The answer is simple. No one will start it. If someone did, it is likely that he or she would have considerable difficulty finding anyone to lend a hand.

A good, worthwhile Battle anniversary observance can be arranged here each year. It is not too late to accomplish it this year. If it is to be done it must be started now . . . and if it is started the whole town should get behind the movement and help.

Let's coordinate our efforts, energy and enterprise. Let's cut out the back-biting, criticism and complaining. Let's all work together, pull together, play together and DO THINGS FOR GETTYSBURG.

charge of receiving stolen goods.

Roy W. Myers, Hampton, who pleaded guilty to a charge of driving a car after his license had been revoked, was given a suspended sentence on condition that he pay $100 for the use of the county and the costs of the case.

Suspended Sentence

Jay T. Woodward, South Washington street, charged with failing to reveal his identity at the scene of an accident, was given a suspended sentence and ordered to pay $50 for the use of the county and the costs.

Howard A. Riley, Gettysburg R. 5, was given a 30-day jail sentence on a charge of drunken driving and was ordered to pay $50 for the use of the county and costs.

William Haar, East Berlin R. 2, also charged with drunken driving was given the same sentence as that imposed on Riley.

Merle R. Kime, Gardners, charged with failing to stop at the scene of an accident and turning off his car lights to avoid revealing his identity, was sentenced to one year in the county jail, beginning December 27, on each charge with sentences to run concurrently. He was also ordered to pay the costs.

The accident, out of which the two charges grew, occurred while Kime was on probation from another charge. The court said, however, that Kime had done so well on his probation that since he had already served 30 days in jail on the two charges on which he was sentenced today he will be placed on parole for one year on the two charges, on condition that he pay the damages caused in the accident.

James R. Dillon, Orrtanna, R. D., charged with drunken driving, was sentenced to 30 days in the county jail, pay $50 for the use of the county and pay the costs.

Troopers Return Missing Treasurer

Hartlingen, Tex., Jan. 29 (AP) — Pennsylvania state police start back to the Keystone state today with Ray Leach, Snyder county, Pa., treasurer, charged with embezzling public funds.

Two troopers arrived yesterday to return the 22-year-old treasurer to Middleburg, Pa., by auto.

Leach said: "I'm sure that when a thorough investigation is made, everything will be found all right."

Detective Sgt. W. A. Hensley and Police Chief H. H. Crockett of the Hartlingen Police department arrested Leach on telephone orders from District Attorney Horace W. Vought of Middleburg, Pa.

Leach had completed his first year of a four year term as treasurer.

to court every day in the District jail's 'Black Maria,' but you would never know it to look at her. The grey curls of her thick shoulder-length hair give one the impression that she has come directly from a beauty parlor instead of the District jail. She talks well, too; has a cultivated voice, easily recognized in the recordings. Axis Sally also uses the earphones apparently enjoying her own broadcasts.

"The enclosed program was particularly interesting to me because, as you will note, the family of a GI in Narberth, Montgomery county, Pennsylvania, enters into it. The purpose of these programs was to destroy the morale of our GIs fighting abroad and that of their families here at home."

The transcription follows:

"Station Announcer: We now once again hand the mike over to our girl reporter 'Midge' who will bring you medical reports on wounded American fliers.

"MIDGE: And now folks, I hope that you still have your paper and pencil there . . . and that you'll co-operate with me by jotting down these medical reports . . . which will give you some information as to the present physical condition of wounded American, and in some cases, Canadian, fliers shot down over Germany or German-occupied territory and lucky enough to have escaped alive. Now, tonight, I have one report for Canada . . . which I'll read to you first. It's for Toronto, Ontario . . . for Mrs. G. Prisupa, P-R-I-S-U-P-A, of 959 College Street, Toronto, Ontario, Canada. The report is about her son Gustav Prisupa . . . whose rank is that of Sergeant . . . the date of birth . . . the 16th of August, 1922, and his Serial Number, 654758.

"Now Mrs. Prisupa should you be listening in I hope that you have good reception there in Toronto . . . your son . . . got his right shoulder blade broken. He is also suffering from multiple abrasions. I can't tell you anymore tonight, but I suppose since you have a son in the Air Service that you'll keep in touch with this broadcast. Now standby, Evansville, Indiana, calling Evansville, Indiana, with word for Mrs. Anlie, A-N-L-I-E, of 1104 First Avenue, Evansville, Indiana. A report about her son Sergeant Robert T. Mitnet, M-I-T-N-E-T, born on the 9th of April, 1918. His service number is 20532859. Now he got a bullet wound in the left knee joint. The doctors say that if no complications develop he'll have to stay in hospital anywhere from 2 to 3 months. Now of course that's always mean getting . . . ah . . . bullet in . . . in one of the joints and there's generally very unpleasant complications in after-life, but he'll be very happy in any case. How many . . . very badly mutilated boys have I seen and they've said to me . . . 'I don't care how I get back . . . just so I get back.' You see, that's . . . the way they think now. What do you suppose they'll think in later years when there are no jobs for cripples—That's the question.

"Well now, I should like to contact Santa Monica, in California. I have word there for Sylvia Edinger, E-D-I-N-G-E-R, of 938 Marco Place, Santa Monica, California. A report about her brother, Staff Sergeant Manuel Rosen, R-O-S-E-N, born on the 19th of May, 1911. Here is his Service Number 33037982742-43. Ah . . . Miss Edinger, your brother . . . got his left leg crushed . . . below the knee and the right leg . . . broken below the knee. Well, that's pretty bad if he got both of his legs so . . . badly . . . ah . . . wounded. Of course the left one sounds bad where the doctors say that it was crushed below the knee. Let's hope he won't have to lose it, but I suppose it's quite probable. But anyway, otherwise he seems to be getting along all right so I suppose you'll be very happy to have got this news about him anyway.

"And now, I have a message for the West. This is for Tillamook, in Oregon. T-I-L-L-A-M-O-O-K, for Mrs. Emile Schofield, S-C-H-O-F-I-E-L-D, of 1008 East 6th Street, Tillamook, Oregon, word about her son, Staff Sergeant Denny Schofield, Service Number 39324837. And now . . . Sergeant Schofield got . . . a bullet in his left arm above the elbow which caused a fracture. The . . . muscle is paralyzed. In addition, he got superficial bullet wounds and fractures. Also his left ankle was sprained, may be fractured, the doctors have taken X-ray . . . ah . . . pictures in the meantime and perhaps at a subsequent broadcast I'll have more news for you.

"Now calling Narberth in Pennsylvania, N-A-R-B-E-R-T-H, with word for W. R. O'Sullivan, 85 Windsor Avenue, Narberth, Pennsylvania, about Lieutenant Walter Rob-ert O'Sullivan, born on the 10th of April, 1921, in Narberth Pennsylvania. Here is his Service Number 0805104. The right leg was fractured above the knee. The fracture was caused by a bullet. The doctors say that from 5 to 6 months hospital treatment will be necessary, so as harmless as this wound may sound, it must be pretty complicated because we hardly ever get cases where the boys have to stay in hospital for nearly half a year. So Mr. O'Sullivan, or whoever happens to be the nearest of kin, please watch out for this broadcast and I hope to have more word for you about Walter O'Sullivan. Now my concluding report tonight unfortunately has no exact address. It's only New York City, New York, which you know as well as I is most vague. It concerns Staff Sergeant Francis H. Cousins, C-O-U-S-I-N.

Bees Will Boost State Apply Crop

Pottsville, Pa., Jan. 29 (AP) — The bee may help boost Pennsylvania's apple crop.

To aid pollination in apple blossom time, the Schuylkill Beekeepers association offers to rent growers hives of 20,000 to 25,000 bees at $5 a hive.

That figures to about .0002 cents a bee — if you're figurin'.

Washington, Jan. 29 (AP)—Senators who have been scarping about the administration's new labor bill finally had a chance to look it over today.

The measure was delivered to Congress last night after a last-minute conflict over its wording had delayed Secretary of Labor Tobin's scheduled appearance yesterday before the Senate labor committee.

Upper Communities

The Rev. George H. Berkheimer, Arendtsville, spent Thursday in Harrisburg attending a session of the executive board of the Central Pennsylvania synod of the United Lutheran church.

Mrs. Reynolds Criswell entertained the members of the Blue Ribbon club Thursday afternoon at her home in Arendtsville. The club will meet in two weeks with Mrs. Ira S. Orner.

The Women's Missionary society of Trinity Lutheran church, Arendtsville, will meet Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Cecil Stover with Mrs. William L. Oyler as the leader.

Miss Ella Clepper entertained the members of the Cloverleaf club Thursday afternoon at her home in Arendtsville. The next meeting will be held in three weeks with Mrs. Lottie Schlosser.

Herbert Lady, a student at West Chester State Teachers' college, is spending the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Luther M. Lady, Biglerville R. D.

William Lower, a student at the University of Maryland, College Park, is spending a mid-semester vacation with his mother, Mrs. Martha Bower Lower, Biglerville R. D.

The Upper Adams County Lions club will meet Tuesday evening at 6:30 o'clock in the Biglerville school cafeteria. Frank N. Hewetson of the community betterment committee has announced that Mrs. Vernon Myers, executive director of the Adams County Board of Assistance, will speak on a phase of her work.

Miss Thelma Slaybaugh, who had been a patient at the Harrisburg hospital for some time, is convalescing at the home of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Fidler, Biglerville.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar C. Rice, Sr., Biglerville, spent Thursday in Harrisburg.

Mr. and Mrs. John Gilbert and family have moved from East York Street, Biglerville, to their newly erected home along the Heidlersburg road.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Myers celebrated their 43rd wedding anniversary Tuesday at their home in Arendtsville. During the day they had the following guests: Their daughter, Mrs. Norton Redding, and daughter, Kathy; another daughter, Mrs. Walter Null, and daughter, Joan, Greenmount; Mrs. Cameron Thomas, Mrs. Fred Baltzley and daughter, Diane, Mrs. Mary Smeltzer, Mrs. Verna Sites and daughter, Susan, Gettysburg, and Miss Alice Dome.

Hope Will Remain On Air For NBC

Philadelphia, Jan. 29 (AP)—Bob Hope, the radio-movie comedian, is going to stick with the National Broadcasting Company.

Hope told a reporter yesterday "I'm going to remain the lone ranger of NBC."

The quip parried a question whether Hope planned to shift to the Columbia Broadcasting System—A move made recently by Jack Benny, Amos and Andy, Red Skelton and Bing Crosby.

RESERVES DECISION

Justice of the Peace John H. Basehore on Friday reserved decision until Monday in the case of John Funt, 20, of Aspers R. D., charged by his sister, Stella Funt, with larceny, in the theft of a number of antiques from the home of their parents. The complainant said the articles were valued at $10, and had been taken at various times since January 1 and sold.

Lake Success, Jan. 29 (AP)—A compromise plan for ending the Indonesian crisis was up to the Netherlands and the Indonesians today. The United Nations watched to see what they would do about it.

The Security Council in 28 separate votes last night approved the plan. The Dutch served notice just before it passed they would carry it out to the extent of their responsibilities—as they see them—for maintaining freedom and order in Indonesia.

I-N-S, born on the 1st of June, 1916, in New York. I have his service number which should of course help in identifying him 33288876. He was hit by a bullet causing a fracture to the right leg above the knee and, unfortunately, splintered the bone. However, his chances of complete recovery are good the doctors say. Well, folks, I see now that my time is up, but please watch out . . . ah . . . for this broadcast which comes to you each and every evening with the exception of Sunday. This is Midge signing off. Thank you for your attention.

"Station Announcer: You have been listening to medical reports on wounded American fliers shot down over German territory and now in German prisoner-of-war camps. This is the German Overseas Service in Berlin."

Refunds Exceed Game Admissions

Ulster, Pa., Jan. 29 (AP)—The basketball game was canceled but there turned out to be a winner and loser just the same.

L. H. Marvin, school principal, called off the Ulster-New Albany court contest last night when the referee failed to show up.

Then Marvin refunded admissions—shelling out $3.50 more than he had taken in.

"BILL" DUNCAN TO PRESIDE AT SPORTS DINNER

The 45th annual dinner of the Philadelphia Sports Writers' association to be held in Philadelphia Monday night, January 31, will attract 1,000 sportsmen.

Three trophies will be awarded—outstanding athlete of 1948, lineman of the year, and the most courageous. Lou Boudreau, Cleveland's shortstop-manager, gets the outstanding athlete trophy and Chuck Bednarik, Penn center, the lineman of the year award. On the night of the banquet the most courageous athlete will be named. It is hush-hush until zero hour, then he is introduced.

Many 'sports greats' will sit at the head table to be introduced by Jack Wilson, president of the association and by Toastmaster C. William Duncan. Ed Pollock usually presents the 'man of the hour,' the most courageous athlete to the big throng. Jimmy Dykes, Athletics' coach; James P. Clark, president of the Eagles, along with Greasy Neale, coach and Al Wistert, captain; Danny Thomas, comedian; Abe Greene, National Boxing commissioner; Bill Veeck and Hank Greenberg, of the Cleveland Indians; Richie Ashburn, Bill Nicholson, Hank Borowy and Ed Waitkus of the Phillies; Bryan Field, of Delaware Park, and others will be honored guests. Tickets for the dinner can be had from Oscar Yoblick, Sports department, Philadelphia Inquirer.

MECHANICSBURG TRIPS JR. HI

For the second time this season, the Gettysburg junior high basketball team bowed to Mechanicsburg junior high, losing a 35-31 decision Friday evening on the high school floor.

Coach Rogers Herr's outfit trailed throughout but made it a keen scrap the whole way, particularly in the third quarter when they spurred to outscore their rivals. Once again scoring was rather evenly balanced for both teams.

The defeat snapped a four-game winning streak of Gettysburg who had previously lost only at Mechanicsburg.

Biglerville will play here on Tuesday.

continues to increase. On our scurry alone six sprays were listed for non-bearing trees and nine sprays were suggested for bearing trees.

Afternoon Sessions
An eight-spray program for plums and prunes was suggested as was a seven-spray program for sweet cherry. A minimum seven-spray schedule was suggested for peaches, and apple sprays ran into a possible dozen.

Among the extension specialists speaking today were J. O. Pepper, R. S. Kirby, J. U. Ruef and R. B. Donaldson.

This afternoon the growers dined at the Musselman company cafeteria and then continued their meeting there. The morning sessions were held in the Biglerville auditorium.

KID GAVILAN TO DEMAND LITTLE BOUT WITH RAY

By JACK HAND

New York, Jan. 29 (P)—Kid Gavilan will post forfeit for a welter-weight title match with Sugar Ray Robinson off his exciting upset victory over Ike Williams, the lightweight king.

The 20th Century Sporting club has something else in mind—a 15-round rematch of last night's 10-round non-title battle with Ike, Frank "Blinky" Palermo, Williams' manager, is in full agreement with the promoters.

"No soap," says Angel Lopez, Gavilan's manager. "No third match. Why should we fight him again? I will go to the New York State commission Monday or Tuesday and put up the money demanding that Robinson fight us."

Wants Title Bout
"We'll fight anybody they say if Robinson doesn't want to fight. Charley Fusari, Gene Burton, Vince Foster, Bernard Dousen or anybody, yes, even Williams, if they say so, but only for the welter title."

"If Robinson fights as a welter-weight again he has to fight the Kid or pay us $5,000. We never signed any papers releasing him from that agreement, made when he promised to weigh 150 for the non-title fight with the Kid at the Yankee stadium last September. (Robinson weighed 150½ and decided the Cuban.)"

There is some doubt about Robinson's ability to make the 147-pound weight limit. Sugar Ray claims he can do it, but others are dubious. In any event he probably will not be ready to risk the crown without a few tuneups after a long layoff due to a rib injury. That would push back any title match until the summer in a ball park.

Close To Draw

In the meantime, Williams will be pressing for another match with Gavilan. It will be a sure sellout in the Garden for the crowd of 15,125 which paid $57,195 for the second of the series wants more. Few fights in recent Garden history have been fought more bitterly than last night's brawl.

Gavilan required three stitches in a cut over his right eye after a furious scrap that was fought head to head and shoulder to shoulder all the way.

Ike won the first time they met, last February, on a very close but unanimous decision. This time it was split. Referee Ruby Goldstein called it a draw 4-4-2 with eight points for each. Judge Harold Barnes and Artie Schwartz saw it for Gavilan 5-4 with one even. The AP card put Gavilan ahead 5-3-2 but it was razor close in every round. Many thought a draw was right.

Chrismar — Raffensperger: Miss Martha Raffensperger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Raffensperger, and Earl Chrismar, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Chrismar, all of Bonneauville, were married Friday evening in the rectory of St. Joseph's Catholic church, Bonneauville, by the Rev. Father Leo J. Krichen.

The attendants were Miss Rita Gebhart and Francis Clabaugh, both of Bonneauville.

Bachmans Home from College
Leave: Dr. and Mrs. Albert Bachman and sons, Albert Eric and Edwin, North Stratton street, arrived in New York on the S. S. Isle de France, last week from a sabbatical leave from Gettysburg college of approximately six months, most of which was spent studying in France. The Bachmans will reside with Prof. and Mrs. Herbert G. Hamme until February 1, when they will return to their residence at 325 North Stratton street.

St. James Players Choose Beatrice Pfeiffer President: The results of the annual organization meeting held this week by the St. James players has been announced. Miss Beatrice Pfeiffer is president; Martha Furney, vice president; Edna Zinn, secretary, and Mrs. C. Russell Gilbert, treasurer.

Women Guests at Elks Fete: Approximately 225 Elks and their friends attended the second annual Ladies' Night held by the Gettysburg lodge Wednesday evening in the Hotel Gettysburg.

Judge W. C. Sheely presided as toastmaster. Guest speakers included Edward D. Smith, Lewistown; Thomas Z. Minehart, of Chambersburg, and Wilbur Brown, of Waynesboro.

Following the dinner a dance was held at the lodge home on Chambersburg street.

Louis Retains Heavy Crown: New York, Jan. 26 (AP)—The quest for a worthwhile opponent for Joe Louis begins to seem downright silly after Wednesday night's farce at the garden, when the tan terror reduced poor John Henry Lewis, to a battered helpless hulk of a man in two minutes 29 seconds of fighting.

When John Henry, who had optimistically been introduced only a few minutes previously as the "challenger for the world's heavyweight crown," went down under the onslaught for the third and last time, the thought must have struck every last one of the 17,350 fans in the arena that in Joe Louis there was a fighter who stood alone.

Today's Talk

THE KINDLY VOICE

Little do we realize the value of the kindly voice. It is often the sound of what is said that is far more important than the expression of the words. Some voices are warm and intimate. My father used to tell me that there was a musical glow to the voice of Wendell Phillips. I would like to have heard the voice of Abraham Lincoln for I am sure that it was a most sympathetic voice—one schooled in humility.

There is an elevator boy in the building where I work each day, who always cheers me by his kindly voice. It is low, clear, and always rounded with a smile. It's a low voice, too, and it says kind things.

I like to hear cheerful, happy voices over the telephone. They are always an asset to any business. In selling, the voice is a compelling factor. Its warmth and sincerity are immediately felt. Where intelligence and heart are behind it, it wins many an order. Also, it leaves a trail of trust behind.

The tone of one's voice often tells volumes. The kindly voice, with no bitterness or complaining to mar its message, is always welcome. We like to listen to it. It is so easy to chill the soul with an unkindly voice. It cuts into the consciousness, like a knife, and it leaves its mark behind. The kindly voice has the opposite effect. It heals pains, lifts one's spirit, and comforts one in sorrow.

This kindly voice may well be the possession of us all. It is an asset beyond price. It will win more genuine success and happiness in life than anything else, if adhered to as a daily habit. And it can be just that. It can change an entire day victoriously, both for the one who exercises it, and for others who gain by it, as well. It is so much easier to be kindly than not to be.

As I look back over the years the ones who stay in my memory, and who warm it, are those whose kindly voices have enriched and encouraged me. And among these have been employers, teachers, and friends. The kindly voice has something of the Infinite to it. There is an eternity about it, for it lingers with us.

GOOD WILL

Of all the assets man can earn,
By every test,
Good will is best,
As those who scorn it sadly learn.

The little effort meant to please;
The way we say:
"Good bye," "Good day!"
A smile—good will is earned by these.

Good will that freely makes it known
To all that we
Can trusted be,
Oh, what a precious thing to own!

New Oxford

New Oxford—Newlin Jones and family who have resided near the Pine Run schoolhouse in this area for about five years, are beginning their preparations to dispose of the property there and move. The Jones family purchased the farm, formerly known as the H. F. Stambaugh place, several years ago from George W. Dunstan, R. 2.

The Brownies of the local Girl Scout troop met Monday afternoon at the fire engine house with Mrs. Margot Fleagle, their leader, presiding.

Samuel S. Mummert, who has been residing with a son, George Mummert, on the E. J. J. Gobrecht place near Pine Run since the death of his wife more than a year ago, has returned from his recent visit to friends in York in which city he formerly resided.

A card party was tendered during the past week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ward Easton, near here, as a surprise to Mr. Easton and to his sister, Mrs. Vida Mitchell, who has been visiting from Atlanta, Ga., both of whom observed birthdays January 21.

The Intermediate Group of the local Girl Scout troop conducted a meeting on Monday evening with 11 scouts present. Mrs. Vesta Shearer, who was chosen leader of this group a few weeks ago, had charge.

Mr. and Mrs. James M. Nell, who were married two weeks ago, are housekeeping in New Chester.

A new electric sign was recently installed on the roof of the Cross Keys Diner, east of town. The sign shows two large red keys, crossed over each other. The proprietor of the diner is John E. George.

Mrs. B. M. Altschull, York, who with her husband operated the B & S Department store in the square, was confined to her home by illness during the week. The Altschulls bought out the business of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey G. Bollinger some months ago.

Mrs. Minnie Boyce has returned to her home after about two weeks' hospitalization at Hanover.

Mr. and Mrs. George Stefan were among the group of guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kaegel, Hanover, who entertained in celebration of the birthday of their daughter, Leah Marie, and of Mr. Kaegel's mother, Mrs. Mary Kaegel, Edgegrove.

LEGISLATORS SEEK CHANGES IN LIQUOR LAW

Harrisburg, Jan. 29 (AP)—The Pennsylvania liquor law is under fire again in the General Assembly. No less than seven bills seek to amend controversial sections.

At least five of the bills seek to settle the question of whether clubs should be included in the liquor license quota. The 1939 quota law limited the issuance of new liquor licenses to not more than one for each 1,000 residents in a municipality. It specifically exempts hotels.

However, in one section the law lists clubs along with hotels as exempted from the quota. In another section, dealing with existing licenses, hotels are mentioned but clubs are not.

Courts Differ

As a result, many county courts have differed in their rulings on the issue. Nearly 30 have ruled that clubs were out of the quota, the remaining courts declaring just the opposite.

Sen. A. H. Letzler (R-Clearfield) sponsored a bill to retain clubs within the quota. But in the House, Reps. Olaf E. Olsen (D-Allegheny) and Delbert W. Dalrymple (R-Erie) offered a measure to do the opposite.

Two other measures would take veterans' clubs definitely out of the quota. Gov. James H. Duff vetoed such a bill in 1947 as class legislation and discriminatory to remaining clubs.

Provides For Appeals

Rep. Francis Worley (R-Adams) has placed a bill before the House that would let the superior court decide the question. It provides for appeals to the higher tribunal by both licenses and the Liquor Control board, an action now prohibited. The Liquor Control board itself, in a move against one-man clubs with big "social" or "associate" memberships, is backing a bill which would require that 60 per cent of a club's membership be allowed voting privileges.

The board is also backing another bill which would allow the state to take up the license of a tavern owner who is too ill to carry on the business or evicted or otherwise loses his license. The measure is aimed at eliminating trafficking of licenses on the open market.

Announce Exams For Student-Trainees

The Department of Agriculture today announced plans by which veterinary, soil conservationist and engineering students may be employed during summer months at their chosen occupation while continuing their studies during regular terms.

Examinations for appointment as student trainee veterinarian, soil conservationist or engineer will be held by the civil service in the near future for posts in Pennsylvania and 13 other eastern states, E. A. Crouse, of the local employment office said.

The jobs will pay $190 to $247 per month. Age limits of 18 to 35 will be waived for veterans. The soil conservationist and engineer positions are open to freshmen, sophomore or junior students. Students who have completed two or three years of veterinary medicine may apply for the veterinarian positions. The starting salary of the trainees will be based on their scholastic training and experience. Application card forms must be on file with the Executive Secretary, Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners, U. S. Department of Agriculture, 6816 Market street, Upper Darby, not later than the close of business February 28, 1949. Full information and application blanks can be obtained at any post office.

Wisdom Of Wipers
One of my good readers tells me that whenever he wipes off the windshield he also remembers to wipe the windshield wiper blades.

He finds that often there is dirt and grit in the layers of the currently popular five edge blades, and also points out that dirty blades may account for much of the scratching of windshields.

For those who find that these multi-edge blades do not seem to wipe the glass clear service men suggest trying a single edge known as the molded edge blade. These are available everywhere. They are especially effective if the glass isn't too perfect.

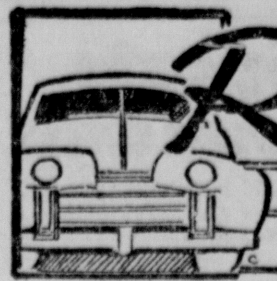

New For The Money
Among some of the new things to capture our attention are a special auto awning for use in your southern driving or next summer. It folds up and tucks away in the glove compartment when not in use. There's a new towing cable with special fittings for snapping on the bumper, thus saving the messy and often difficult job of hooking the cable to the underparts. Newest in locking devices is an electrical control of the little door over the gasoline tank filler cap. It operates from a button on the dash. You may have already seen one of those center headlights which turns with the steering wheel.

A very practical gadget is the new finger-tip gas control. When so desired you can feed gas without reaching for the accelerator pedal.

Stream Or "Dream"-Lined?
Whether your car is streamlined or just designed to meet current competition can be decided by driving it over a dusty road and noting what happens to its rear deck. If the back of the car is immediately covered with dust you can be certain that design is incorrect. In a perfectly fashioned body the vortex should be about 200 feet behind the car. After a dusty drive the rear end should be as clean as the hood.

New York, Jan. 29 (AP)—The five-cent cigar staged a comeback in New York today. For the first time since the war nickel stogies were on sale again in this city. They represented the smoker's dividend on a general three-month price decline reported by the Bureau of Labor Statistics in Washington.

Your experience in motoring is one thing you can't get for nothing.

Keeping Up With Chains

When you buy chains for your car this year, don't be surprised to find that their container is marked several sizes. This merely reflects the rather complicated, and often confused, state of affairs in wheel and tire sizes. For instance, a chain that will fit a 6.00 x 17 tire will also work equally well on a 6.50 x 16 tire. This same size takes care of one of the low pressure tires sized 7.60 x 15.

Most chains will fit over snow-treaded tires. If they ask why you want chains on snow tires just remember to explain that snow treaders are not as satisfactory on glare ice as are chains or the special tires with abrasive type treads.

Note On Storage

Anyone still planning to put the car away from the balance of the winter should follow the advice of old timers who know from experience that it is important to leave the cooling system filled with antifreeze. While it is true that a properly drained system is safe against cold it isn't safe against rusting. As soon as a used radiator or block is dry and exposed to air it will start to become scaley, unless well treated with rust inhibitor first. This is the scale that gets into circulation to clog the radiator core after the car is put back into service in the Spring.

How Do They Flex?

An extremely interesting point in connection with the self-sealing type of inner tube will serve to show that in motordom there is always something new to learn. Experience seems to indicate that these tubes, being heavier, do not give as good a ride as regular tubes, but the difference isn't due to the weight so much as the lessening in sidewall flexing. I tested a set of these puncture-resistant tubes and found that pressures did not increase as they do with regular tubes. Obviously the sidewall flexing causes the pressure build-up. Five pounds is not unusual with regular tubes. Of course, it is true that after the pressure build up your tires with regular tubes may ride as hard as they would with self-sealing tubes and less air pressure. It is good reason for making various pressure trials before deciding which kind of tube to use.

Mechanic Joe Speaking:

"Some of the trouble that happens to used cars could be corrected pronto if the new buyers could have a better picture of what happened, when these cars were in the original owners' hands. That is one reason for trying to get the full story of a car before buying it. Sometimes the original owner has made some change which is not for the better and which could easily be corrected."

"I recently had occasion to work on a motor which had developed the annoying habit of blowing its head gasket. Neither the head nor the block appeared to be warped. In the course of mulling over this I noticed that the head has been cut down in an effort to increase compression. And that was the tip-off. We installed a new head and every thing has been synchro-mesh ever since. The job wasn't designed to withstand the increased compression."

Diagnosis In Action
When a reader complained that his car seemed to be starving for gas at speeds of around 50 miles an hour he was able to prove this to be the case because the job was equipped with a hand control of the choke. By enriching the mixture a little the engine picked up and was ready for normal increase in car speed. But he was not so successful in figuring out why the engine wouldn't run normally without partial choking at higher speeds. First he tried a new fuel pump, then a higher carburetor float level. He even checked the intake manifold for gum deposits. His mechanic finally had to give him the simple answer. There was something wrong with the high speed carburetor jet.

Examination of the carburetor showed that the former owner of the car had installed a smaller size jet to save gas.

Try 'Em Cold And Hot

Whether or not there is grease on one of the brake shoes can be told by the fact that braking will be different when the brakes are cold than when they are hot. When cold there will be a tendency for the affected brake to slip whereas when heated up the greasy brake will start grabbing. Incidentally, this is what makes greasy brakes so dangerous. They are apt to pull you off the road when you are hitting it up on a trip. Greasy front brakes invariably are the result of not repacking the front wheel bearings often enough. Greasy rear brakes are the penalty for not checking the lube level of the rear end which may overflow because of lube working down from the transmission.

What's Your Car Trouble?

Q. We have difficulty getting the engine of our business car through the warm-up period. After a mile or two everything is normal. Have replaced the distributor and the choke. C. B.

A. Check for wet ignition parts such as the coil, distributor cap and tops of spark plugs. There may also be an air leak around the intake manifold. Finally check the fuel pump. When an engine is starting out fuel consumption is at a high rate. A sluggish pump will be a stumbling block here.

Q. Where can I get a transmission for my Cord car? Who made the gears for this job? J. A. W.

A. This transmission was made by the Cord company itself. You may be able to get one from an orphan parts dealer or junk yard.

Q. My car doesn't always shift until I have driven fifteen minutes or so. It has a power shifting device. J. J. M.

A. Check for too fast idling, a sticking accelerator linkage, impaired dashpot adjustment at the carburetor, improper mechanical function at the transmission itself or trouble with the vacuum unit.

Q. There's an odd sound in my car when the engine is running, especially with the clutch pedal down. Sounds like a scraping noise, but often has other variations. It seems to be coming from the transmission. H. M.

A. It is probably due to a worn clutch throwout bearing.

Q. There's a noise in the speedometer of my car but in spite of greasing the entire cable the trouble continues. What do you suggest? J. B. L.

A. I'd take it to a speedometer man. Most important, don't let that lubricant remain on the entire cable as some of it may work into the speedometer head and ruin this unit. A cable should not be lubricated for more than two thirds the way to the speedometer head.

Q. I get a most annoying thumping action in my car, like a heavy spot in a tire. This is most noticeable when driving over city streets. What can I do about this? Wm. L. L.

A. Most of us are getting this action. It is a combination of wide cracks in paving plus synthetic tires which do not ride as softly as those of all natural rubber. About the best solution is to run with less air pressure around town.

Q. What's wrong when an engine won't idle properly. Have checked everything I can think of, including the mixture, the timing, engine temperature and the choke. Do you think there can be anything wrong with valve timing? R. F.

A. No. But there's a good chance that you have a sticky valve. Why don't you put some valve oil in with the engine oil?

CHRYSLER WILL SHOW NEW LINE AT 7 MEETINGS

Chrysler dealers will get their first look at the 1949 "Silver Anniversary" line at a series of seven meetings, to begin February 4, at Atlantic City, and conclude March 3, at San Francisco. Each of these meetings will be attended by the dealers in from two to six of the 28 regions into which its territory is divided by the Chrysler Division, Chrysler Corporation, with the amount of travel entailed held to a minimum. Each meeting will be completed in one day for the further convenience of the dealers.

At these gatherings, Chrysler will show an assortment of body styles in order that the dealers may have a comprehensive idea of the merchandise available to them in 1949. Because this year marks the 25th anniversary of the introduction of the Chrysler car, the meetings will be built on an historic theme, to portray the evolution of Chrysler since 1924, highlighting its introduction of all-steel bodies, hydraulic brakes, high-compression engines, Floating Power, engine mountings, streamlined body design, Fluid Drive, superfinished working parts, Safety-rim wheels and other distinctive examples of more than 100 engineering advancements achieved by this company in the last quarter-century.

Roomier Cars

Joseph A. O'Malley, General Sales Manager of the Chrysler Division, will preside at all the meetings and will make the actual presentation of the line to the dealers. President David A. Wallace will make the address of welcome, and Leo Carrillo, well-known motion picture and radio star, will be master of ceremonies.

Dealers will see a Chrysler car completely restyled and embodying

PA. INDUSTRIES HIT NEW PEAK

State College, Pa., Jan. 29 (AP)—Industrial activity in Pennsylvania rose to a new peacetime peak during December.

The Bureau of Business Research at the Pennsylvania State college said the December record was exceeded only once before in the state's history. That was in December, 1943, a war year.

The bureau based its report on an index covering coal production, employ hours in manufacturing, and power sales.

Steel mills in the Pittsburgh-Youngstown area, the bureau said, turned out the best December tonnage on record, closing a year in which all peacetime records were more than 50 mechanical betterments, including an increase in engine compression ratios, improving horsepower and torque, and a new Prestomatic Fluid Drive transmission. An increase in roominess in essential dimensions has been achieved. Seat-cushion width has been increased five inches in front and 7½ inches in rear. Wheelbase has been increased four inches in both six- and eight-cylinder models, yet the car is slightly shorter in bumper-to-bumper dimensions.

TRUMAN'S PLAN GREETED WITH ENTHUSIASM

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

Imaginations have been stirred on both sides of the Atlantic by President Truman's project of raising living standards in backward countries and so promoting political improvements.

The enthusiasm with which Britain has seized on the idea speaks success. Already the vast British areas of Africa and Asia have been offered for this historic experiment. Other nations may be expected to join.

So the idea has had an auspicious launching. Indeed, there is some fear it has been too auspicious in that it may encourage exaggerated hopes.

It's true that the potentialities seem almost limitless. However, one thing the world must get clearly in mind: This is a long term project. It isn't a matter of months but of years—many years if it is carried to a logical conclusion.

Must Survey Prospects

The main job at the outset will be one of surveying prospects in various parts of the world. Fortunately there already is a large amount of information available. Britain, for example, during the past couple of years has been making an intensive study of ways and means of developing her potentially rich African possessions.

The possibilities in Africa are immense, but much expensive spadework is necessary. Among other things great stretches of railroads must be built, and England has neither the money nor the equipment. This is pointed to as one example where private capital presumably safeguarded by governments, would fit into the picture.

The Indian peninsula, housing the big dominions of India and Pakistan, is another area which is in pressing need of development. The majority of its population of some 400,000,000 is heavily underprivileged, through circumstances which the governments cannot remedy without outside assistance. And now whether India gets outside help, she is likely to become the dominant power of Asia. Democracy needs her in its camp.

So the story goes around the globe.

Littlestown

Littlestown—Kenneth Sell arrived home from Ursinus college on Friday to spend several days' vacation between the semesters with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley R. Sell, East King street extended.

Mrs. Joseph Fischer, Baltimore, spent several days this week with her grandmother, Mrs. John R. Byers, and family, East King street. Mrs. Harry Hoke, Spring Grove, was a guest at the Byers' home on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Leslie, Perth Amboy, N. J., returned home on Friday after spending several days with Mrs. Leslie's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tressler, West King street.

Mrs. Arthur E. Bair, South Queen street, was hostess on Thursday evening to the monthly meeting of the Starr Bible class of St. Paul's Lutheran church. The president, Mrs. Holman L. Sell, was in charge of the meeting. After a song service, Mrs. Edward Plunkert reading St. Luke 4:1-13 as the scripture lesson. Mrs. Maurice Wareheim presented the secretary's report. There were 13 members of the class present. Guess packages contributed by Mrs. Ralph Conover and Mrs. Sterling Sell were received by Mrs. Edward Plunkert. The class voted a contribution of $10 to the March of Dimes. They also decided to purchase a bookmarker for the Bible used in the Sunday school room. The group will make and sell sandwiches at a future date. A social hour followed the meeting when a guess contest was held, which was won by Mrs. Ralph Conover. Refreshments were served by the hostess and Mrs. Plunkert. The next meeting will be held Thursday, February 24, at the home of Mrs. Ralph Conover, East King street, when in addition to the hostess, the program committee will include Mrs. David S. Kammerer and Mrs. Luther Sentz.

The January meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of St. John's Lutheran church was held Thursday evening at the parsonage on West King street. After the opening song

Hint Wages May Be Passing Their Peak

Washington, Jan. 28 (AP)—The economic winds stirred up a hint today that wages, like prices, may have reached a postwar peak. In some cases, they may have started a downward trend.

More than 300,000 auto and electrical workers of the General Motors Corp., stand to take a two- or three-cent-an-hour pay cut on the basis of the government's declining cost-of-living index.

And officials of at least one major union, the CIO's Amalgamated Clothing Workers, said they have decided against a fourth round of post-war pay boosts because of slackened demand for men's apparel.

"We're practical realists, you know," one clothing union official told a reporter. "We've decided against asking for any new wage increase now, even though our members feel the price pinch, too, because right now our industry is soft."

Student Killed In Crash On Turnpike

Bedford, Pa., Jan. 29 (AP)—Sam Appel, 21, a Pitt student of Pittsburgh, was killed and two other persons were hurt in an auto crash yesterday on the Pennsylvania turnpike 19 miles west of here.

M. R. Rom, 23, of Pittsburgh, also a Pitt student, suffered a possible broken leg. Pvt. Boytin Mike of Cleveland, a soldier stationed at the Aberdeen, Md., proving grounds was cut about the head and arms. The students had given him a lift.

State police said Rom and Appel were en route to visit friends at Chambersburg when their car upset.

service, the pastor, the Rev. Kenneth D. James, conducted the devotions. The group joined in a responsive scripture lesson from St. Matthew. The following readings were presented: "Unconscious Influence," Mrs. Dale Stary; "The World is Mine," Mrs. Dallas Shriver; "Seed Thoughts," Mrs. James Dutta; "All Inside," Mrs. J. Edgar Yealy and a poem, "Easter," by Mrs. Kenneth D. James. Mrs. Edwin Harget presented the secretary's report. There were 27 members and five visitors in attendance. Mrs. Clair Beamer was received as a new member. The business session was in charge of the president, Mrs. Dallas Shriver. A contribution of $5 was voted to the March of Dimes. Mrs. Lloyd Spangler, Mrs. James Dutta and Mrs. Lillie Shryock were chosen as the committee for the next meeting which will be held Thursday, February 24, at a place to be announced later. Mrs. Sylvester Rickrode donated the guess package which was awarded to Mrs. Malcolm Heiser. Following the meeting a White Elephant party was held and $7.25 was realized for the society treasury. Refreshments were served by a committee consisting of Mrs. Kenneth D. James, Mrs. Mazie Asper and Mrs. Malcolm Heiser.

Only a small number appeared for the blood typing on Thursday evening at the Ocker Snyder Post No. 321, American Legion. The Legion appreciates the interest of those who cooperated in this community project. Following the completion of the work by the technicians, the semi-monthly meeting of the post was held in charge of Commander Clarence J. Krichten, Sr., James Fager and Ralph Ruggles, Jr., a committee in charge of arrangements for a legion birthday party announced that it will be held Tuesday, March 15 at Basechoar's. A contribution of $5 was voted to March of Dimes. It was also decided to sponsor a Junior Legion Baseball team to compete with Junior Legion teams in York and Adams counties. The next meeting will be held February 10.

FIND RHEUMATIC FEVER RATE IS HIGH IN PENNA.

Harrisburg, Jan. 29 (AP)—A statewide survey has indicated "an alarming number" of Pennsylvania youths are rheumatic fever patients, the state medical society reported today.

"We want to know the extent of this disease which kills more children of school age than any other disease," said Dr. Andrew B. Fuller, Pittsburgh, chairman of the society's commission to study control of rheumatic fever.

Meanwhile, the state Health Department forecast a worse than normal outbreak of measles in 1949 with scarlet fever about normal.

First Extension Survey
Dr. Fuller said registration blanks had been sent to each of the 10,750 physician members of the society to report individuals under 21 years of age with rheumatic fever. Requests for 2,000 additional blanks already have been received, he said.

"There have been sporadic surveys on this disease made in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh but this is the first extensive and thorough registrations ever made," Dr. Fuller said, adding: "We are anxious to trace down every case of rheumatic fever for it is not only a great killer of children, but it cripples thousands of children and is the cause for much of the heart disease in latter life. Rheumatic fever afflicts 50 times as many children as does infantile paralysis and it has to be controlled."

Dr. Ralph L. Shanno, Forty-Fort, co-chairman of the commission, also said there seems to be more rheumatic fever in the Commonwealth than "we formerly believed."

Expect Measles Epidemic
He said the survey may indicate that assistance will be needed from the state Health Department or funds from the Legislature for more clinics, convalescent homes and teachers for children afflicted with the disease.

The Health Department, meanwhile, was concerned with prospects for a heavy outbreak of measles cases this year. The prediction is based on a more or less regular cycle which has become evident in the past 40 years.

The first three weeks in January already saw 2,512 cases reported in Pennsylvania. The peak months are March, when the weather is breaking, and October, when most children are back in school.

Last year saw 39,185 cases of measles compared to 12,963 in 1947, the end of the last previous three-year cycle saw 69,000 cases in 1946.

DEMOCRACY IS LIKE ELEPHANT WITH 'HOTFOOT'

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Jan. 29 (AP)—A Democracy is like an elephant with a hot foot.

It'll move, all right, but not like lightning. And, before it moves at all, it really has to feel the heat. That's why so much of what you read about in Washington gets done, when it gets done, so slowly.

Congress is the prime example. For Congress usually takes its time before acting, hearing both sides, arguing, making up its mind. And it may not act at all unless the people in the rest of the country apply enough heat.

Virtue In Slowness

This very slowness has a virtue of its own.

It gives an issue which seems red hot at the moment time to die down, if it's the kind that will die down, until it's no longer an issue. And it gives the people, with their conflicting and often strong views, time to make their feelings and their reasons known.

Then, since Congress represents the people, the decision it makes at last should pretty well represent the will of most of the people.

That isn't always so and when it isn't, or when Congress by its slowness shows it doesn't understand or ignores the needs or will of the people, they can change the Congress at the next election.

Lucky So Far

This slowness—the result of trying to get the minds of Congress and the people to reach an agreement—isn't always a virtue. Some day, in a time of great danger, it may be a disaster. So far we've been lucky.

ISRAEL GIVEN RECOGNITION BY GREAT BRITAIN

By HAL COOPER
London, Jan. 29 (AP)—Britain, Belgium and the Netherlands announced today they had given de facto recognition to the government of Israel.

De facto recognition is acknowledgment that an operating government is in existence. It is a grade below de jure recognition that a government is legally constituted.

Their separate announcements were made after the foreign ministers of the Brussels alliance stated yesterday they had come to a joint decision to tender recognition to the eight-month-old provisional Jewish regime.

Effective Today
France and Luxembourg are the other members of the alliance. France already had announced her recognition of the state.

The British foreign office announcement today said "his majesty's government" in the United Kingdom have decided to accord de facto recognition to the government of Israel. "They hope to arrange with that government for the early exchange of representatives."

The press association's diplomatic correspondent said the recognition took effect at 11 a. m. today.

Britain's Action Late
The Dutch announcement from The Hague said Dr. J. A. Nederbragt, consul general in Jerusalem, had been appointed the Netherlands' representative with the Israeli government.

Britain's action, ending a long delay after the United States tendered de facto recognition at the very first when the government proclaimed its existence, came as an anti-climax.

It was foreshadowed Wednesday when Prime Minister Attlee told the House of Commons Britain accepted recognition in principle, and that she would act as soon as she had consulted with her dominions and her allies in the western European union.

Others To Follow
His statement followed a debate in which Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin was severely criticized for his Palestine policy. In the end, after recognition had been promised, the government won what amounted to a vote of confidence on the issue.

Australia, one of the dominions, and Switzerland, also announced their recognition of the Jewish state yesterday.

Five more nations, New Zealand, Norway, Sweden, Denmark and Iceland, are preparing to take similar action soon.

With all the Brussels power in the lineup, 29 states have now decided to recognize the Jewish state.

East Berlin

East Berlin—Harold R. Shetter, instructor and athletic director at Trinity college, Hartford, Conn., has been spending the mid-semester leave at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George L. Shetter.

Kenneth B. Klinedinst, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart E. Klinedinst, who moved from here to Abbottstown last year, has enlisted for military service and departed for duty.

Improvement is reported in the condition of Abraham Altland, octogenarian, who had been seriously ill at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Harrison Fourham, with whom he resides.

Mrs. Michael Burgard, R. 3, will be hostess to the next meeting of the Women's Work organization of the Church of the Brethren, Tuesday evening at her home.

Harvey Hunter, Jr., has left to begin his duties in the army in which he recently enlisted. He is the youngest son of Harvey Hunter and the late Mrs. Hunter.

Mrs. George Myers, R. 1, Spring Grove, granddaughter of Mrs. Emma Jacobs, Harrisburg street, is improved and at home again after a minor operation performed last week at the York hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold W. Sanders, former teachers at the local high school, now teaching at Biglerville, are preparing to move shortly to that place, having sold their Berlin Heights house to Melvin Eisenhart.

Visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Oberlander during the past week were their daughter-in-law and grandchild, Mrs. Lois J. Rider Oberlander and Pamela Jane Oberlander, York.

"Ovie the Magician" presented a show recently at the local high school auditorium under the auspices of the local Lions club. At the intermission, a number of door prizes donated by merchants of this area were presented.

Mrs. Kathleen Wrights Brown and son, Billy, Hanover, were week-end visitors of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Claude E. Wrights, and family.

TWO DEANS NAMED

Bethlehem, Pa., Jan. 29 (AP)—Two new deans have been appointed to the Lehigh university faculty. Dr. Harvey A. Neville has been named dean of the graduate school and Prof. Robert P. More, associate dean of the college of arts and sciences. Both appointments re-effective July 1. Dr. Neville will fill a post vacant since the war. Prof. More takes over a newly created post as assistant to Dean Philip M. Palmer.

HER SECRET STAR

By Bonnie C. Hall

AP News Service

Chapter 19
They were out on the highway en route to Carrollton before they spoke to each other again. Then Jack said:

"You've been pretty much of a fool, Gertrude. Don't you think it's about time you were growing up?" Gertrude didn't answer, so they drove along in silence for a little while. Contrary to his usual custom, Jack was driving slowly, although the highway was fairly clear at this hour.

"Your heart's not broken, toots." He smiled down at her in the darkness. "In less than a week it'll be good as new. You'll forget you ever knew Bobby Costello. Gee, Gertrude, he's an old man—just an old city slicker trying to make like a boy."

Again Gertrude was silent. She was fully aware that the orchestra leader was not a young man, but his attentions had flattered her all the more.

"Maybe I shouldn't have punched the old fool," Jack went on to say. "However, I'm glad I did."

"I'm glad you did too," Gertrude announced impulsively. "In a way, it served him right."

Suddenly it happened! It was ironical that it should happen at a time when Jack Barnes, known all over the county for his reckless disregard for speed limits, should be driving at what was practically a dog-trot. He saw the heavy truck approaching on the other side of the highway; saw the big Cadillac dart out from behind the truck and plunge forward. It was careening wildly across the highway into the wrong lane. It was coming toward them at a maddening speed, as if bent upon destroying itself as well as every other vehicle on the road.

Even as he whirled the steering wheel in a desperate attempt to get out of the way of the approaching car, Jack knew it was no use. Above the sound of the crash, he heard Gertrude's despairing prayer:

"Please, God—don't let me die!"

Betty sat in the living room, straining her ears for the sound of Jack Barnes' car, wishing the telephone would ring, hoping for anything that might bring some reassuring word of Gertrude. It was 2 o'clock now. Jack had been gone for over two hours.

Upstairs David Warren, in his kindly if clumsy way, was doing his best to make his wife comfortable. He had long since despaired of persuading her that Gertrude was well able to take care of herself; that, given time, she would return home of her own accord. He was trying to conceal his own anxiety by means of considerable bluster and much bustling around.

Minniebelle was sobbing again. He went over and patted her awkwardly on the shoulder, swallowed the lump in his own throat.

"Go ahead and have a good cry, honey-bunch; it'll do you good. No matter where she is now or what she is doing, she'll come home, dragging the world behind her."

Minniebelle's answer was something not far removed from a scream. The distraught woman was getting hysterical now. Therefore neither she nor her husband heard the telephone when it rang.

Betty heard it. She had been sitting on the edge of her chair waiting for it for what seemed like centuries. She was out in the hall and taking the receiver off the hook before the bell stopped ringing.

It was not Jack Barnes' gay, slightly impudent voice that came over the wire. It was a deeper voice, a serious voice, and there was something ominous about it.

"Oh—Betty? I didn't expect you to answer the phone at this hour. But I'm glad you did. This is Doctor George Newton—remember?"

"Yes, I remember."

"I—I'm afraid I have bad news for you. There's been an accident on the highway. It happened in front of the Harpers' house and fortunately, I was there. I—I'm calling from the hospital."

There was a brief pause, and Betty prompted:

"Yes, Doctor Newton. I'm listening. What were you going to say?"

"It's—well, it's about Gertrude. She was with Jack Barnes in his car and she was—er—hurt."

"Oh, no! Is she—"

"No, she's not dead," came the answer. "But you'll have to talk to her parents. It's hard to tell anything yet, but it looks bad. I'm afraid she's dying. They should be prepared. You might as well tell them the truth."

"All right. I—I'll tell them."

"There's one other thing, Betty. Gertrude wanted her mother to know she was on her way home. She kept repeating it as if it were something terribly important."

"It is important—terribly important. I'll tell Aunt Minniebelle and Uncle Dave. And I'll get them over to the hospital as soon as I can."

"Good girl, Betty. I'll be here, waiting." He paused briefly; then said, "Chin up, darling. I'm depending on you."

Betty's heart was like a heavy weight in her throat. How could she tell Aunt Minniebelle and Uncle Dave? But she knew she would have to do it, and somehow George Newton's last words made the ordeal seem a little less difficult. He had called her "darling" and said he was depending on her.

"What about Jack?" she asked when at last she could speak. "Is he all right?"

There was no answer. Even before she asked the first question Doctor Newton had hung up the receiver and was on the way back to his patient.

Chapter 20

Betty never remembered how she managed to tell her uncle and aunt. But she must have told them, for a little while later they were in the car on their way to the hospital.

Uncle Dave was driving, his heavily veined hands manipulating the steering wheel with a steadiness that astonished his niece. His unwonted silence was the only outward indication of what was going on inside him.

Aunt Minniebelle sat on the back seat with Betty, dry-eyed and silent. There was no more sobbing, no more hysteria. Every now and then she would say in a quiet voice, almost as if she were talking to herself: "She was coming home, and she wanted me to know it. I knew all the time she'd come back."

"Yes," her husband would say, unconsciously speaking in the past tense, "she was like that. They didn't make girls any finer than Gertrude. She was a little bit stubborn like me. But her heart was always in the right place—just like yours, Minniebelle."

Betty felt her heart bleed for this gallant middle-aged couple who were so valiantly carrying on. After hearing the news Aunt Minniebelle had gotten up from bed, dried her tears, and dressed just as quietly—just as carefully—as if she was going to a club meeting. If her hand trembled a little as she put on her hat, it wasn't too obvious.

Uncle Dave, with no bluster at all, had found his coat and hat without even asking where they were and accusing somebody of hiding them. Yet, they had kept their chins up—Uncle Dave and Aunt Minniebelle. She, Betty, whose concern was nothing comparable to theirs, hadn't. It wasn't Aunt Minniebelle who had burst into a fit of wild sobbing after Betty had delivered Doctor Newton's message. It was she, Betty. Why, it was all she could do to keep from crying aloud right now!

It was a small hospital, a reconverted residence to which a long wing had been added. It looked more like a home than a hospital, and was utterly unlike the handsome building in New York in which Betty had trained for a few months.

A nurse met them at the door and escorted them into the small waiting room. She spoke to the Warrens, calling them by name and, although she made no mention of their reason for being there, there was a world of compassion in her eyes.

There was an air of friendly informality about the entire place, but there was obviously no lack of efficiency.

Presently Betty got up and went out into the big room where the nurses were. She spoke to one of the nurses, a pretty blue-eyed girl whom the others addressed as "Bobby."

She asked about Jack Barnes.

"Oh, he's getting along all right, the girl said. 'It's really a miracle. I'm sure you can come in to see him tomorrow, if you like to. You could go in now, but he's badly shaken up and the doctor wants to keep him as quiet as possible.'"

She did not volunteer any further information. Betty did not ask about Gertrude. Somehow she knew without being told that Gertrude was dead. The compassionate look in Bobby's eyes had said so.

When she returned to the waiting room Doctor Newton was there. He had already told Uncle Dave and Aunt Minniebelle. Uncle Dave stood with his arm around his wife's shoulder, staring off into space, seeing nothing. Aunt Minniebelle's eyes appeared to be glazed and her chin was trembling, but she made no outcry.

The doctor turned to Betty, but before he could speak she nodded her head, indicating that she knew.

After a while they went home, to a hauntingly silent house whose every detail would remind them of Gertrude. Doctor Newton drove the car, Betty sitting beside him, with David and Minniebelle on the back seat.

"Well, honey-bunch," Betty heard her uncle say, "we haven't got much to look forward to, now that Gertrude's gone. But we've still got each other."

"Yes," his wife said. "And we know she was coming home. I know now that it was just a childish whim that made her go away. But she wanted to come back, and she was coming back. Nothing can take that away from us."

Betty thought of that a little while later as she stood at her bedroom window watching the sun come up over the Bay. She was glad now that she hadn't told them about Bobby Costello. Maybe Aunt Minniebelle was right after all. It might have been merely a childish whim. Jack Barnes could very easily have been mistaken.

Betty wished she could go back to New York immediately and take up hospital training where she had left off. Only today—no, it was yesterday—she had told Jack Barnes of her decision to do so in the fall.

But she knew she couldn't go back in the fall—or ever. No matter how hard it was, she would have to stay there. She could not leave Uncle

Sunday School Lesson

THE TEMPTATION OF JESUS
By Rev. Howard R. Gold, D.D.,
Margaret C. Gold
Luke 4:1-13

Memory selection: For we have not a high priest who is unable to sympathize with our weaknesses, but one who in every respect has been tempted as we are, yet without sinning. Hebrews 4:13.

Jesus had been baptized by John the Baptist in the River Jordan and then retired to a mountain west of the Dead Sea overlooking Jericho. There He had a struggle with forces of evil personified as Satan. Why this temptation? We must remember that Jesus was human. When He took up habitation on earth He assumed the characteristics of man. He was susceptible to the approach of both good and evil. He, like all men, must choose.

Satan's Purpose
The purpose of the evil force that assailed Jesus was to destroy his real mission as the Son of God. "If you are the Son" is the devil's approach. If Jesus had responded as his assailant hoped He would and gratified a clearly human need, his spiritual mission would have been wrecked at the very beginning. He would then have been the kind of Messiah that materially-minded men of His day had looked for.

Satan's approach in the first temptation was subtle. The Master was hungry after His fast in the wilderness. Why not supply His need "if He is able and 'if He can so serve himself'" The implication is that He would do the same for others. What a field for service lay before! His countrymen had a low standard of living. They worked hard, were underpaid and over-taxed by their masters. This appeal of Satan's was a powerful force in our time. Does the "high standard of living" Americans enjoy include spirituality or is it on the level of just enough to eat and wear? The good life sought for by many is just a material sufficiency.

Jesus answered Satan promptly, quoting from the Scriptures: "Man shall not live by bread alone." Later, by feeding thousands and healing hundreds, Jesus showed that He had compassion for those in bodily need, but His chief mission was to supply a higher need.

Political Power
Appeal to appetite had failed. The second approach was to ambition for power. Satan, as in a panorama, showed Jesus "all the kingdoms of the world." Authority over these kingdoms (who gave it to Satan?) and the glory that goes with it shall be yours, he said to Jesus, "if you, then, will worship me." How quickly that offer would have been, or now would be, accepted by a certain kind of politician! Any man would know, upon reflection, that receiving power from the devil (if he had it), would call for a devilish administration. Still, many a one, chiefly ambitious for power, would have accepted the bargain expecting, perhaps, to bring some benefit to his subjects.

Jesus would have none of this false worship for the sake of power. Again quoting from Scripture He said, "You shall worship the Lord your God, and him only shall you serve." Even if Satan had had the authority to give, and had not required worship of himself, Jesus could not have accepted the offer. He came to establish a spiritual kingdom on earth, not a political one. Jesus would not be diverted from the purpose of his mission.

The Father's Care

A third attempt. The scene in the drama shifts to Jerusalem: to a pinnacle of the Temple. Again comes that "if." "If you are the Son of God, throw yourself down from here," and angels will see to it that no harm comes to you. Satan knew by this time that he was dealing Dave and Aunt Minniebelle. They had come to her rescue when she needed them; they had given her a home when she had none. They needed her—now.

with one who did not care enough for his own comfort to turn stones into bread, nor was ambitious enough to become a political lord. So he set a scene involving his very life, and his relationship to God. "If you are God's Son" you are safe regardless of what reckless thing you do. Jesus' reply again was short and from the Scriptures. "You shall not tempt the Lord your God." Finally, the devil worsted, he made his departure. Jesus knew that the Father's care for his Son's safety required no spectacular proof.

Conclusions
Jesus himself must have reported this inner struggle of his soul. No one else was present. He used symbolism, so popular in Oriental life. We may call it a parable in which He and Satan were the characters. Likely He told this experience to one or more of his disciples. It would help them. It will help all who are tempted. Men would see Jesus in their own level: "Tempted like we are, yet without sin." Learn to know God's purpose for your life and hold to that resolutely. He will support you.

Questions on the S. S. Lesson
1. Why could Jesus be tempted?
2. What was the first temptation?
3. Was Jesus indifferent to human welfare?
4. What kind of kingdom would Jesus establish?
5. Where was the scene of the third temptation?
6. Who reported the Temptation? Why?

Answers
1. Because he was human.
2. An appeal to appetite.
3. No, he fed and healed people.
4. A spiritual kingdom.
5. At the Temple in Jerusalem.
6. Jesus himself. To help others when tempted.

York Springs

York Springs—The seniors of the local high school will hold their public 500 party and refreshment sale at the community hall for the benefit of their class trip fund on Thursday evening, February 17, instead of having had it during the past week as was first intended. The seniors relinquished their date to the local Mademoiselle club who desired to use the hall for their party for the benefit of the March of Dimes.

Laurin Strayer has returned to his home near town after being hospitalized at Carlisle for several days.

Mary Martha Congleton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Congleton, near town, was ill at her home during the past week.

George Coulson, near town, has been undergoing observation and treatment at the Carlisle hospital.

Mrs. Parvin Bower, whose health has not been good for some time, was removed to the U. of Pa. hospital, Philadelphia, for further treatment and observation.

The fifty-first wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. William Jacobs was recently observed at their home here, but because of the advanced age of the couple, the attendance at the celebration was limited to the family, with guests being their son, Murray with his wife; a grandson, Lance D. Jacobs, Abbottstown, with his wife and their daughters, Judy and Jerry, as well as Mrs. Rosa Koehler, Philadelphia, who has been spending some time with her daughter, Mrs. Lance Jacobs.

Sal And Hal Are Now Very Friendly In Zoo

Los Angeles, Jan. 29 (AP)—Hal (for halitosis) and Sal now are very friendly.

This is the happy report emanating today from Griffith Park zoo, sponsor of a romance between Hal and a camel girl friend recently purchased for $1,500. The idea was to raise some little two-humpers to trade with other zoos.

But when the camel couple was first introduced, Hal lumbered off, with Sal in pursuit, and covered in a corner of his fenced yard.

However, in his role of camel cupid an appropriately-named keeper, Melvin Love, and Sal's charms finally broke down Hal's resistance.

RUSSIA ISSUES 'WHITE PAPER' TO ASSAIL PACT

By EDDY GILMORE
Moscow, Jan. 29 (AP)—Russia issued a white paper today to tell the world the projected North Atlantic Pact is part of a British-American plan for a new war.

It is a plot against the United Nations and has as its object the establishment of British-American domination of the world by force, said the Soviet Foreign Ministry.

The Western European Union was declared a link in the plans for world domination by the two powers.

Sums Up USSR's Views
The document, one of the longest issued by the Foreign Ministry in months, took up nearly two pages in the Moscow press. It attracted the immediate interest of Moscow's diplomats who at once obtained copies and began translating and analyzing the declaration.

Specifically entitled, "Declaration of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs of the USSR on the North Atlantic Pact," the paper accused Britain and the United States of trying to isolate the Soviet Union, undermine the United Nations, institute an economic boycott on the USSR and her friends, trying to start a new war and not wanting to conclude peace treaties for Germany and Japan.

In short it summed up the USSR's present view of the entire foreign situation as it has been intensified, in Moscow's opinion, by the projected North Atlantic Pact.

"Seeks World Domination"
It concluded by declaring Russia is going to fight "more firmly and more insistently" against the alleged attempt to wreck the U.N.

The Western European Union, the statement said, was a "link in a chain of measures involved in plans for establishing Anglo-American world domination."

This union, it added, was but a "military-political complement to the economic grouping of European countries which was created to carry out the Marshall Plan" and both

Suggests Ink As Woman's Weapon

Berlin, Jan. 29 (AP)—Ink as a weapon against ill-behaved Russian soldiers was recently proposed by the Russian commandant of a small eastern German town, the British-receive their direction from the ruling circles of the Anglo-U.S.A. bloc.

The statement also dealt in detail with a number of regional agreements and projects for such alliances, including the Western Hemisphere Defense Pact, a proposed Mediterranean pact, and the South Asian conference on Indonesia held recently in New Delhi, India.

licensed Telegraf reported Friday. Some women had come to see the commandant, the newspaper's story says, to complain about increasing molestation of German women by Russian soldiers.

When the Russian officer asked the women what he should do about it, they didn't know. So he came up with an idea.

"Always carry some ink with you," he said. "In case of distress, pour it over the soldier's clothes. Since every soldier has but one uniform, I can easily find out the culprits from the ink-blot."

The first successful platform scales, to weigh heavy, massive objects, were produced in 1830 at St. Johnsbury, Vt.

Red cherries may be sweetened and thickened and served as a sauce over sponge or plain white cake. Add a second sauce of soft custard for a de luxe dessert when company comes.

G. S. RIGHTMYER

re-enlisted in the 15th U. S. Infantry Regiment in November 1898. As a member of the regiment he served in Cuba for a year and one month and then returned with the regiment to the United States where it recruited to full strength before going to China to take part in the Boxer Rebellion in 1900.

He served in Manila, Santa Cruz, Navatic and Santa Maria where his company was relieved by the 28th Infantry. At Sorecon his outfit relieved the 47th U. S. Volunteers. He was discharged en route to the United States as the Transport Sheridan crossed the 180th meridian half way between the Philippines and San Francisco. He returned to the U. S. and re-enlisted in the 56th Coast Artillery, serving for two years in Puerto Rico. He was finally discharged from the army at Fort Wadsworth, N. Y., on February 5, 1905.

Funeral Tuesday
A member of St. James Lutheran church, he also was a member of the Sgt. Steffy post 126 of the United Spanish War Veterans, and of the Hanover post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. As president of the 15th Infantry Association he was completing plans for a summer reunion of the 15th here this summer.

As commander of the local United Spanish War Veterans he was in charge of a number of conventions held by the Pennsylvania Department of the USWV here over the past several years.

Surviving are his widow, the former Katherine Barbehenn, and a sister, Mrs. Gertrude Ricketts, Martinsburg, W. Va.

Funeral services Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Bender funeral home with the Rev. Dr. Ralph R. Gresh officiating. Interment in Evergreen cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home Monday evening after 7 o'clock.

Bank Deposits
reported total liabilities at the end of 1948 that were lower than at the close of 1947. The three exceptions are the First National Bank of Fairfield which saw its total liabilities climb above the $1,000,000 mark for the first time in its history; the Farmers Bank of McSherrystown and the Farmers and Merchants bank of New Oxford. In 1947 seven county banking houses had reported deposit gains while the seven others showed decreases.

NEW COUNCIL OF EUROPE AGREED UPON BY POWERS

By WILLIAM OATIS
London, Jan. 29 (AP)—A new and historic "Council of Europe" with a fledgling cabinet and an advisory parliament emerged today as a major factor in the post-war world.

The foreign ministers of the five Western European Union democracies announced agreement yesterday to set up the council. Authoritative sources said headquarters will be in Strasbourg, France.

The five nations reaching the agreement, after months of discussion on some form of European unity, are Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg.

Italy to Join
They said other European countries will be asked to help set up the council. One informed source said the first invitation will go to Italy. Foreign Minister Carlo Sforza said "European union is born and Italy will be one of the founding states."

The "Council of Europe" will consist of a committee of ministers from the member nations which will meet in secret, and an advisory assembly composed of representatives from each country. The assembly, expected to pave the way ultimately for a single parliament to represent all the European democracies, will meet in public.

Details are to be worked out by the permanent commission of the five powers of the Western European Union, set up under the Brussels

DEFENSE RESTS O'MALLEY CASE

Philadelphia, Jan. 29 (AP)—Judge W. Russell Carr decided today whether the commonwealth proved Magistrate John J. O'Malley deliberately committed illegal acts while in office.

The state rested its case last night.

Pact of March 17, 1948.
The "Council of Europe" is a step toward a long-time goal of some European statesmen: A united Europe with member nations eventually erasing geographical boundaries and other existing barriers, something on the order of the United States.

Top Washington officials hailed the agreement as a step toward the goal of developing a new power center in Europe, already divided sharply into a Russian-backed eastern bloc and a U. S.-backed Western group.

They said promotion of European unity has been a major objective of American policy as embodied in the Marshall Plan and the proposed North Atlantic security alliance.

and defense counsel immediately asked Judge Carr to dismiss 155 counts which accuse O'Malley of having made secret changes in publicly announced verdicts. The Magistrate also is accused in 34 counts of illegally granting continuances of cases.

The jury of six men and six women were out of the courtroom as Defense Attorney Lemuel B. Schofield and Special Deputy Attorney General Laurence H. Eldredge argued a motion for a demurrer to all evidence.

Schofield offered the motion. He insisted the state "failed to prove any intent."

Eldredge countered flatly with the assertion: "We not only have a good case on which to go to the jury, but a case which we honest, fair-minded jury could return but a verdict of guilty."

Judge Carr promised to give the motion considerable thought. The demurrer motion came at the fifth day of O'Malley's second trial of malfeasance charges. A previous jury failed to reach a verdict.

Union Does Not Ask Pay Increase

Philadelphia, Jan. 29 (AP)—"We're satisfied," the union said, "we want no more money. We would like to continue the present contract for three years."

The employer didn't say it but the reaction was: "Oh boy!"

The union—Local 187, AFL-Teamsters Union—made the announcement yesterday on behalf of 150 truck drivers employed by six member firms of the Philadelphia Industrial Laundry Association.

"We readily agreed to the contract," said Edward V. Early, manager of one of the laundries.

And why not? The union has called strikes eight times in the past 12 years.

The trick in making hashed brown potatoes is to allow them to fry over low heat, without stirring, until brown on the bottom. They may then be turned with two wide spatulas and the other side browned.

The Army is growing. It needs more officers, particularly those in the junior grades. See the U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting officer at the Post Office Building in Gettysburg.
